PHOTOGRAPHS

- [1431-001] Proposed design of a flag for the city of Winchester, VA, by architect Crawford MacCallum. The design was eventually adopted, with modifications, as follows: City Code SECTION 2-3. CITY FLAG. There is adopted as the flag of the City a scarlet field with a Saint Andrew's cross imposed, composed of three (3) stripes of equal width, the center stripe of colonial blue and the flanking stripes of colonial buff. The cross shall be outlined by a narrow white edge separating it from the scarlet field. In the center of the cross, at the intersection, shall be a scarlet shield superimposed and outlined by a narrow white edge, and charged upon the shield shall be a Norman lion regardant [sic!], in colonial buff color, a facsimile of the lions on the flag of the City of Winchester, England, after which Winchester, Virginia, was named. This flag shall be the authorized and official and corporate flag of the City and shall be accepted and used as such. (Code 1959, §1-9), circa 1920s.
