Winchester Star, January 5, 1942 - Surrounded by her children and relatives in the quiet of her father's snowbound Frederick County home near Greenspring, Mrs. Elsie Kremer, recently arrived here from Honolulu, had little difficulty recalling today the horrors of the bombing raid on Pearl Harbor and Hickam Field a month ago. Mrs. Kremer, wife of Master Sergeant Dallas M. Kremer, U.S. Army Air Corps, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.T. McCarty, told how she and her two daughters sat huddled in the breakfast nook of their home on Hickam Field during that early morning "stab in the back" by the Japanese. "We were badly scared and expected every minute to be our last," she exclaimed, "but when the confusion and noise was at its height we took heart when through a window we could see the American flag still waving over the Marine barracks at Pearl Harbor." This plucky Frederick County woman and daughters, Ann, 9, and Yvonne, 7, then sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the top of their voices to keep out the sound of exploding bombs and answering anti-aircraft guns. For an hour and a half they kept themselves covered in that breakfast nook until Sergeant Kremer hurried over from his gun station in a lull in the attack and drove his family into Honolulu, which was not the center of the attack.
